

Boxers' Basketball Pretty Doggy

Basketball never was played with more dogged determination than by Rudy Docker's dogs. The Austrian born trainer, who is looked at a number of Wisconsin county fairs, taught eight boxers to hunt a ball through a hoop.

The dogs wear jerseys and trunks, which one dog is trained to pull off them during the game, and are rewarded with a shower afterward.

"In Europe they play soccer, but here basketball is the sport," Docker said. They were photographed in action at Monroe.

Security Juniors Win City Crown

Security State Bank, behind the no-hit pitching of Gary Buss, blanked the Giants, 5-0, Thursday night, and won the city Junior championship in the boys baseball program.

Buss struck out 12 and walked only three while holding the West champions hitless.

Security, winner of the Olbrich Junior League title, finished the season with a 17-0 record. It opened the scoring with two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning.

Steve Mathis started the inning with a walk, advanced to third on manager Tom Bennett's single, and scored ahead of the throw when Gary Buss hit a high chopper over the mound.

John Verhelst then grounded into a fielders choice to score Bennett. Irv Rawlings belted a two-run homer in the fifth and Mike McEvilly singled home Buss in the sixth for the Bankers' other run.
