

Pack attacks injuries selectively

By John Hughes
State Journal sports writer

GREEN BAY — Bart Starr is a little gun shy about injuries as the Green Bay Packers begin the heavy work portion of their preseason training camp.

In a departure from procedure in the past, the Packer head coach has his team working out in full pads in only one of the regular twice-daily practices. In the mornings the players take the field in shorts and shoulder pads.

"We want to be selective in the use of our people and how much we expose them to contact," said Starr Monday. "We're going to limit our contact work."

Part of the reason for the change, Starr said, was to avoid injuries, and part was to allow those already injured more of a chance to heal.

For example, guard Derrel Go-fourth, who played the last month of the 1980 National Football League season with knee ligament damage, had surgery after the season ended and is still recuperating. He is being held out of all drills that might put stress on the knee, as are tackle Mark Koncar, coming back again after surgery to repair his achilles tendon, and tight end Bill Larson, who had knee surgery.

Starr is also edgy about the status of linebackers Rich Wingo, John Anderson and George Cumby — also rehabilitation cases and the guts of the Packers' 3-4 defense.

And then there's prized rookie quarterback Rich Campbell, who had knee surgery last season while still at the University of California, and guard Leotis Harris, who is suffering from an leg injury of undetermined nature. The list goes on.

"We've looked at everything we've done as it might have affected the injury situation," Starr said. "We can't find a direct tie and Lord knows we've looked hard enough."

Whitworth heads home unfulfilled

LA GRANGE, Ill. (AP) — There were hugs and kisses and champagne toasts for Kathy Whitworth, who became the first millionaire in Ladies Professional Golf Association history Sunday. But the 41-year-old tour veteran left town without what she covets most — the U.S. Open title.

She began Sunday's final round with a one-shot lead and a chance to clinch the title that had eluded her in 22 previous attempts. By the time she reached the par-three 17th hole, she was two shots back, still within striking distance of the lead.

But her four-iron tee shot fell in water 20 yards short of the green, leading to a double-bogey five, and her hopes for the title sank with her ball.

"I just made a bad swing," Whitworth said. "I just didn't hit it solid enough."

After Whitworth's fatal mistake, Pat Bradley closed with a fine wedge shot and a birdie on 18 and wound up with a record U.S. Open total of nine-under-par 279 and the tournament's $22,000 first prize. Beth Daniel of Seabrook Island, S.C., finished a stroke behind, while Whitworth closed with a six-under-par 284, good enough for third place and the $9,500 in prize money that put her over the $1-million mark.

"It was the one saving grace," Whitworth said of her million-dollar milestone, "but there's no question I'd rather have the win."

The desire for an Open victory nagged at Whitworth throughout the final round. Even for a 22-year Tour veteran, the pressure of taking a narrow lead into the final round of the tour's most prestigious tournament took its toll.

"I think it got to me today," she said. "I was really thinking about it, I can't deny that. Supposedly, you should be good enough to block it out of your mind. That's the key to winning any tournament. I did pretty good the first three days and just so good on the fourth round. I just couldn't put it out of my mind. You felt it just was not an ordinary tournament. You were aware of what it was."

Her fellow golfers were aware, too. They were pulling for her to such an extent that Donna Caponi had champagne brought to the 18th green to greet Whitworth. "Hey, Whit," Caponi yelled, "a million dollars!"

But amid the embraces and shouts of joy, something was missing — an answer to the question, "Why?"

"How many times can you say, 'I'm trying'?" Whitworth asked herself. "I don't play badly on purpose. I can't think of any other way to say it — I don't know why I don't play well in a U.S. Open."

She recalled her first year on the tour, when she played in 26 events and won a whopping $1,217. In her first tournament, she tied for 16th place — last — with four others.

"I've lost a lot more than I've ever won," Whitworth said. "I'm not going to lose a lot of sleep over it."

Would there be tears? "There might have been years ago," Whitworth said, "but not now."

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Former University of Wisconsin runner Cindy Bremser of Madison, Wis., who now competes for the Wisconsin United Track Club, ran 1,500 meters in 4 minutes, 15.62 seconds to take first place and set a record in the National Sports Festival Monday.

Bremser, who ran the 1,500 for the Midwest team at the Festival, finished just three-hundredths of a second ahead of Jan Merrill of New London, Conn., who ran for the East team.

While Bremser set one record Monday, one that she set in the 1979 Festival was broken by Kim Gallagher, who ran the 3,000-meter in 9:41.3.

Jacki Farrell of Janesville, Wis., placed second to Rosalynn Fairbanks in the ladies' individual figure skating competition with 4.0 factored places.

In hockey competition, the Midwest team defeated New England, 8-6, as UW players Pat Ethier and John Johannson recorded assists while skating on the same shift.

Former Badger shot putter Jeff Braun placed fourth in the shot put competition with a toss of 64 feet, 10 inches. Brian Oldfield of Los Angeles set a Festival record with an effort of 68-5.

Also taking a fourth place was Pat Johnson of Chicago. The UW field star leaped 19-9 3/4 in the long jump.

Steinhauer makes tourney's top flight

Special to The State Journal

DENVER — Sherri Steinhauer of Madison, Wis., qualified for championship flight play in the 51st Women's Trans National Golf Championship at The Ranch Country Club by one stroke Monday, shooting a 42-35-77.

Steinhauer, who ran away with Wisconsin's State Amateur Championship last week and also won the state public high school championship last week, joined the championship flight of 64 golfers for match play, which begins today.

Steinhauer, who plays out of Nakoma Golf Club, played the front nine shakily, as four bogeys and a double bogey put her six over. But she recovered for an even-par 35 on the back side after being two under on that nine with two holes to play.

A playoff for the final qualifying berths was held between those who shot 78. The tournament features 144 women with handicaps of four or less.

Clarc turns back Vilas in Washington Star final
WASHINGTON (AP) — Argentina's Jose-Luis Clarc, winning his second tournament in as many weeks, beat countryman Guillermo Vilas, 7-5, 6-2 Monday evening in the $200,000 Washington Star International Tennis Championships.

Clarc won the U.S. Pro Championships in Boston last week.

Free-agent defensive back Virgil Livers was placed on waivers Monday for failing to pass his physical.

Livers, a five-year NFL veteran, had several successful seasons with the Chicago Bears, but missed the entire 1980 season because of a knee injury suffered in a Bears preseason game against the Cincinnati Bengals.

Earlier Monday Starr said that Livers had gone home to Chicago over the weekend and that the Packers were waiting for a call from him before making their decision.

It was thought that Livers might provide some help for the Packers' beleaguered defensive secondary because of his outstanding speed. Particularly high on him was defensive backfield coach Ross Fichtner, who had coached Livers at Chicago. The rap against Livers was that he was small (5-foot-8 1/2, 180 pounds) and not an overly fierce hitter.

As young as the training camp is, the Packers are already showing they are going to work hard to improve their passing attack.

Monday morning's work on offense was devoted entirely to passing. Starr said the afternoon session would be devoted to the running game, but it turned out to be about half and half between running and passing.

The Packers will likely keep three tight ends this season and they will likely be veterans Paul Coffman and John Thompson and rookie Gary Lewis. Offensive line coach Ernie McMillan admitted as much Monday when he said that guard/tackle Karl Swanke will no longer be needed in triple tight end situations as he was last season.

The Packers, who think Thompson and Lewis have the ability to play on the flanks, are looking to use various combinations of the three tight ends, in conjunction with the wide receivers.

They could, for instance, use two tight ends, two wide receivers and only one running back in certain situations; or James Lofton outside, Coffman in close and either Thompson or Lewis flanked wide.

Lambeau Field will get a facelift for next season to the tune of $300,000, half of which will go for sandblasting and painting. . . Willie Davis, an ex-Packer great and NFL hall-of-famer, was a spectator at Monday's afternoon practice. . . The final figures on Lofton's contract: He will be paid $207,000 for 1981 with a chance to make up to another $100,000 in incentive bonuses.

Bancroft Dairy rallies to win

Bancroft Dairy overcame a six-run first inning by Hot Mamas Monday night to score five runs in the fourth and four in the fifth and win a first-round makeup game, 12-7, in Maine League women's fast-pitch city softball action.

A home run by Cindy Pickarts and a triple by Arleen Case led the way in the fourth for Bancroft, which scored five times to take an 8-6 lead, its first lead of the game.

In a Pine League men's slow-pitch game, Jon Skonkie hit two home runs and added a double and single as Bar-naby's blasted Snell and Birrenkott, 23-11.

Only a few city softball games were completed Monday night, as wet grounds and rain forced the cancellation of the majority of the schedule.

Heritage triumphs in Port Huron race

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Monday marked the third time in a week that Heritage, skippered by Don Wildman of Chicago, was first across the finish line in a Great Lakes sailboat race.

Wildman's 63-foot wooden-hulled sloop was about 45 minutes ahead of long-time competitor Brassy in the 57th Port Huron-to-Mackinac Island competition, a 259-nautical-mile race marked this year by high winds and rough seas. Six boats were forced to drop out, in several cases because of the weather.

Brassy defeated Heritage across the finish line in the 1980 Chicago-to-Mackinac Island race.

City baseball rained out

Monday's city recreation league baseball games, scheduled for Mansfield and Warner Parks, were rained out and will be rescheduled for the end of the season, recreation league officials said.

Ridgewood wins city diving meet

Ridgewood pool broke Hill Farm's four-year domination of the All-City Diving Meet Tuesday with a 16-point victory at the Hill Farm pool.

Ridgewood failed to win an individual championship in the two-day meet but scored enough points Monday in the 10-years-and-under and 11-12-year-old divisions to capture the overall title.

The Monona pool brother and sister duo of Dave and Sue Deadman won their respective age categories Tuesday. Sue Deadman edged defending 15-18-year-old champion Sara Smith.

Defense of city crown Plautz's main concern

By Linda Stack
State Journal sports reporter

Mike Plautz admitted immediately after he captured the Men's City Golf Championship for the fourth time last summer that he'd like nothing better than to earn victory No. 5.

A fifth victory would be a milestone for the 32-year-old because it would tie him with Maple Bluff Country Club's Harry Simonson for second place on the all-time list of city tournament winners. Only Steve Caravello, with nine titles, has won more.

Starting Thursday, Plautz will shoot for that title against 90 golfers at Yahara Hills. Play continues Friday at the Cherokee Golf and Tennis Club before the field is cut to the low 30 and ties for the final rounds Saturday at Maple Bluff and Sunday at Blackhawk Country Club.

Plautz earned the title last year at Odana Hills with a final-round 70 to overtake fellow public course golfer Dave Lien. Lien held the lead for three rounds before slipping to third place with a 76 in the last round. Chuck Hinners of Nakoma Golf Club finished second, three strokes behind Plautz, while former city champion Brent Beer of Maple Bluff was fourth.

Despite limited tournament play this summer, Plautz said this week that he's been playing well of late and his game is in the best shape it's been all summer.

Since early June, Plautz has been suffering from rotator cuff tendinitis, but the Yahara Hills golfer said he thinks it is better now.

The State Match Play Championship in late June at Nakoma was the last tournament Plautz played, and he struggled there, shooting 79 in the qualifying round and losing his first match.

Of the four courses that comprise this year's tournament, Plautz said the only one that usually gives him any trouble is Blackhawk. "But that course can give anyone trouble," he said. "I usually play pretty well at Cherokee and Maple Bluff."

MARSHALL — The Home Talent League baseball game between Marshall and Lake Mills was rained out Tuesday. It has been rescheduled for Aug. 18 at Marshall.

Hull captures bronze medal at World University Games

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Mitch Hull of Evansville, Wis., and the University of Wisconsin took the bronze medal Tuesday in the 100-pound freestyle wrestling category at the World University Games.

Hull, a two-time all-American, became the second UW wrestler to win a medal at the Games. Rick Lawinger, formerly of Mineral Point, Wis., won a bronze medal in 1974.

Americans continued to dominate the swimming events Tuesday, but the American women's basketball team and the U.S. water polo squad blew chances for gold medals.

Jill Sterkel of the University of Texas collected her fourth gold medal of the Games as the United States took three of four swimming golds.

Cuba swamped the Soviet Union, 11-8, Tuesday night and took the gold medal in water polo from the United States.

The U.S., which needed only to win its final match against Romania to take the gold, was upset, 6-4, by the host nation and had to settle for the silver.

Romania's victory over the previously unbeaten Americans earned it the bronze medal ahead of the Soviets.

Although usually strong on offense, the Americans scored on only two out of six extra man opportunities and failed to penetrate the tough Romanian defense.

The U.S. was defeated, 98-79, by the Soviet Union in the women's basketball final.

Galina Krisevici was almost unstoppable under the basket, scoring 27 points. Lataunya Pollard with 13 points, was the American high scorer, while Anne Donovan, playing with an injured knee, had 12.

John Bagley of Boston College hit 22 points as the U.S. men's basketball team outpaced Romania, 91-79, to earn a final meeting with the Soviet Union, which ousted Yugoslavia, 92-84.

Coach Tom Davis of Boston College said fatigue may work against the injury-hit U.S. squad.

"Tomorrow (today) will be our 16th game in 27 days," he said. "We are near exhaustion in several positions."
